6.1. The BPR&D may engage a Coordinator to guide and supervise the research project. The Coordinator would be serving/ retired subject expert in the subject of research proposal. The Coordinator may also be serving or retired practitioner in the related area of police functioning and criminal justice system. The Coordinator would supervise the progress of research and guide the Project Director in the on-going research. They may suggest mid-course corrections, as and when required. The Coordinator would be expected to help in maintaining high standards of academic rigor of the research. Together, they would contribute in making the research project useful.

6.2. The BPR&D shall appoint a Project Coordinator to supervise the project and to ensure compliance with the terms and conditions by the Project Director, in order to ensure time bound progress of the research and quality thereof.

6.3. The Project Coordinator shall be a professionally competent individual, who will not be participant/ applicant for the concerned Research Study. The Coordinator shall primarily be responsible for:

- i) Certifying research designs as per standard research methodology and/ or as approved by the Standing Committee;
- ii) Monitoring the progress of the research work through periodic need-based visits and other means;
- iii) Supervising quality of the research work;
- iv) Submit quarterly report about the progress of the research
- v) Any other work assigned by the BPR&D for improving the quality of the research and for compliance with the terms and conditions of the Project sanctioned by the BPR&D;

6.4. The Coordinator and the Project Director shall not begin the research project until and unless the research design and methodology is duly approved by the BPR&D. The first installment of funds for the project will be released only after such consultation and approval of the research design and methodology by the BPR&D.

6.5. Before the commencement of the project, the Project Directors are required to get in touch with their Coordinators to approve the research methodology in the light of laid down objectives of their research project and the conditions laid down by the Standing Committee/BPR&D and to get it certified from the concerned Coordinator under intimation to the BPR&D.

6.6. The research tools for collection of the primary as well as the secondary data have prepared and standardized in consultation with the respective Coordinator before actually proceeding for collection of data.

6.7. All correspondence, including progress reports on the project, are required to be routed through the Coordinator with his specific remarks as to the progress and quality of the research work.

6.8. The Project Coordinator may be paid remuneration @ 10% of the Project Cost fixed by the BPR&D for the individual project. The remunerations shall be released in three equal installments to the concerned Organisation, where the research project is based. The Project Coordinator shall also execute an undertaking on similar lines as by the Project Director/ Organisation.

7. Conduct and Monitoring of Research Project

7.1. The BPR&D will issue a sanction letter along with the terms and conditions indicating approved cost of the project. The institution/ organization/ department and Project Directors shall ensure compliance with the terms and conditions mentioned in the sanction letter. No change shall be made in any of the conditions laid down in the sanction letter without prior approval of the BPR&D.

7.2. The Head/ Registrar of the Organisation and the Project Director shall execute an undertaking after receipt of the sanction letter. The first installment of funds for the project shall be released only after execution and receipt of the agreement by the BPR&D.

7.3. The Project Director is required to commence the research project within one month from the date of receipt of the first installment of the grant, under intimation to the BPR&D.

7.4. Depending on the magnitude of the research project the BPR&D may permit the appointment of Co-Researcher if proposed by the concerned Organisation, where the research project is based, who will be of the same qualifications and experience as the Project Director. In unforeseen circumstances and other contingencies, the Co-Project Director will discharge all the responsibilities of the Project Director for the conduct of the research project.

7.5. A team of Research Assistants may also be engaged in the research project depending on the requirement, as approved by the Standing Committee/ BPR&D. The details of the support research team will have to be clearly spelt out in the research proposal. The names and qualifications of the Research Assistants engaged from time to time will be intimated to the BPR&D.

7.6. There will be a mid-term review of the research project by the BPR&D. the BPR&D may use the services of a subject expert and/ or practitioner to evaluate the progress of the research project as per the decided objectives and research design. Such evaluation(s) may be carried out by more than one evaluator as many times as required. For evaluation of the progress report of the research project, the BPR&D shall pay an amount of Rs. 3,000/- to the subject expert and/ or the practitioner to evaluate the progress of the research project. BPR&D shall also get the final study report evaluated by a subject expert and/ or a practitioner. For the same, an amount of Rs. 10,000/- shall be paid to the evaluator. The Project Director and Coordinators may be asked to make a presentation for this purpose for which no TA/DA shall be paid by the BPR&D.

7.7. Suggestions and inputs given on the progress report/ mid-term review and during the presentations shall be necessarily incorporated by the Project Director as long as these generally promote the objectives of the research projects.

7.8. Based on this mid-term review, the BPR&D will take the final decision whether to continue with the research project and to release the remaining grants, contingencies, etc., or to terminate the research project. If the progress is not found satisfactory, the research project may be terminated and the amount released to the Organisation/ Project Director shall be liable to be refunded along with penal interest.

The Project Coordinator may also be required to refund the entire amount released to him along with penal interest, if he fails to fulfill the terms and conditions laid down for him. The BPR&D may also blacklist both the Project Director and the Project Coordinator for any future Research Project.

7.9. A consultative workshop/seminar may be held after the mid-term review, to validate the findings of the research and also to take the views of other practitioners and stakeholders. This will be done by the Project Director before completing the project and finalizing the recommendations of the research study. This will be organised within the sanctioned amount of the research project, in consultation with the Coordinator and the BPR&D.

7.10. The Project Director is required to submit a final report on the research project at the end of the time allotted. The grantee / Project Director shall submit 20 hard copies with one soft copy of the final report of the research project. The report must be detailed and should include information about the original objective(s) of the project and how far these objective(s) have been achieved. No extension shall be granted except in exceptional circumstances. Extension shall be without any additional financial implications for the project. All such requests will be considered on a case to case basis.

7.11. In addition, the Project Director is also required to submit an Executive Summary of the report in about 2500 words.

7.12. The Project Directors are required to remain in regular touch with their Coordinators for smooth progress of the research project and also to facilitate close monitoring and supervision of the quality of the entire research work and to ensure its successful completion within the stipulated time.

8. Evaluation of Research Project

8.1. The BPR&D will have the draft of the final report evaluated by one or more Evaluators who are subject experts and/or practitioners.

8.2. The Project Director will be required to incorporate the observations, comments and suggestions of the Evaluators in the final report of the research project.

8.3. If on evaluation, the final report is not found satisfactory, the BPR&D may not accept the research report and the entire amount of funding shall be liable to be refunded by the Project Director/organization concerned. The Project Coordinator shall also be required to refund the entire amount if any lapse is found on his part.

9. Funding/ Grant by the BPR&D

9.1. There is no financial limit for the Research & Development proposals submitted under this programme. However, the proposals must clearly mention the expenditure likely to be incurred on various heads like salaries and wages of the project staff, consumables, travel, consultative workshops, seminars, printing and publications, books, contingencies and other overheads for the proposed duration of the project.

9.2. The funding of the BPR&D will generally cover the expenditure on:

- i) Salary and wages of the project staff
- ii) Travel to be undertaken in relation to the project
- iii) Data processing
- iv) Stationery and printing
- v) Books, journals, etc.
- vi) Contingency expenses, including postage
- vii) Any Other (Specify) except equipment
- viii) Overhead charges, if any

9.3. The funds will be released by the BPR&D in three instalments. The first installment will be released only after due approval of the BPR&D regarding the research design & methodology and the undertaking signed by the Organisation/ Project Director.

9.4. The second instalment will be released after the submission of Utilization Certificate as per the instructions/ guidelines issued by the BPR&D and the Audited Statement of Accounts for the expenses related to the first instalment by the concerned Organisation/ Institute/University and after mid-term review of the research project.

9.5. The third instalment will be released only after the submission of the final report along with the Utilization Certificate as per instructions/ guidelines issued by the BPR&D and Audited Statement of Accounts for the full amount of grant by the Project Director through the concerned Organisation/ Institute/ University and after acceptance of the final report by the BPR&D. The funds to the Coordinator will also be released as per this schedule.

9.6. The Project Director is expected to submit the quarterly/ six monthly progress report of the project through the Project Coordinator, who shall submit it to the BPR&D with his comments. In addition, a certified statement of expenditure actually incurred and an anticipated expenditure for the next quarter/six months shall also be submitted. The release of subsequent installment is subject to satisfactory progress of the work.

9.7. Where the Project Director is a serving officer, he will not be entitled to any remuneration. He shall continue to get the pay and allowances from his/ her parent office/ department/ institution.

9.8. The Organisation, where the research project is based, shall be responsible for disbursement and administration of the research grants and maintenance of proper accounts.

9.9. Where the Project Director is a retired officer, pension, if any, shall not be deducted from the research grant.

9.10. Where the Project Director is a retired officer or an independent person who is not employed, the grant will be administered through the Organisation/ Institute/ University through which it has been submitted, which shall be responsible for proper administration of the project.

9.11. The honorarium and payments to the subject experts and evaluators of the project at various stages shall be over and above the total quantum of research grant sought by the Project Director in the research proposal. However, the remuneration of the Project Coordinator shall be added to the project cost at the time of sanction of the project.

10. Terms and Conditions governing the Grants/Funding

10.1. The grant is for the specific project as approved by the Standing Committee/ BPR&D and it shall be spent only on that project within the specified time.

10.2. The Institution/ Organisation/ University is required to give an undertaking to administer and manage the BPR&D grant as per its financial norms.

10.3. The Project Director will submit a Utilization Certificate as per the instructions/ guidelines issued by the BPR&D and the Audited Statement of Accounts through the concerned Organisation/ Institute/ University at the mid-term review stage relating to the expenses incurred from the time of release of 1st instalment. After completion of the project, the Utilization Certificate as per the instructions/ guidelines issued by the BPR&D along with Audited Statements of Accounts for the full amount of grant sanctioned by the BPR&D and spent by the Project Director shall be submitted by the respective institution to the BPR&D.

10.4. It is not permitted to divert the grant for any other purpose.

10.5. All accounts in respect of the project will be maintained separately and the subject to audit. The BPR&D may also depute a team of officers to audit the accounts on its discretion. On completion of the project, the duly audited accounts shall be submitted and the unspent balance, if any, shall be refunded to the BPR&D, immediately. Full and final payment will be made after submission of and acceptance of all the financial certificates, audit reports and the research project report.

10.6. If it is found expedient to keep a part or the whole of the grant in a bank account earning interest, the interest so earned should be reported to the BPR&D. The interest thus earned will be treated as a credit to the Organisation/ Project Director to be adjusted towards further release of grant.

11. Other Conditions governing the Research Project

11.1. The Project Director is expected to publish, at least, one research paper / article in a referred journal on the research project duly acknowledging the funding of the project by the BPR&D.

11.2. In the event of services of the Project Director not being available due to some unforeseen reasons during the currency of the project, a substitute Project Director shall be appointed by the institution/ organization concerned after prior approval of the DG, BPR&D.

11.3. The Organisation/ Project Director has to ensure that the personnel engaged in the project, as proposed for the study are deployed for the indicated period only.

13.4. No disclosure shall be made to any person by the Organisation/ Project Director or any staff member as to the contents of the research work and the tentative inferences drawn therefrom, without the prior approval of the DG, BPR&D.

11.4. No TA/DA shall be paid by the BPR&D for any presentation and discussion at the BPR&D Headquarters to any staff member of the project, including the Project Director and also to the Project Coordinator. All these expenses shall be met from the sanctioned grant of the research project.

11.5. The project report will become the property of the BPR&D and will be used for any purpose as deemed fit by the Director General, BPR&D.

11.6. If, after having received the grant, the grantee is not in a position to execute or complete the assignment, he/ she would be required to refund forthwith to the Bureau the entire amount of grant received, so far, with interest as per rules. Further, the data collected and the report, if any, prepared on the basis thereof shall be handed over to the BPR&D.

11.7. No subsequent change in the research topic, the scope and methodology of the research project shall be permitted without the prior written approval of the DG, BPR&D. If this condition is violated, the research project is liable to be terminated.

11.8. The BPR&D reserves the right to terminate the research project and the grant at any stage, if it is convinced that the grant has not been properly utilized or adequate progress is not being made.

11.9. The Project Director shall not entrust the implementation of the work for which the grant is sanctioned to another Researcher/ Institution and divert the grant to the latter. Transfer of any project from one person to another person will not be permitted without prior written approval of the BPR&D.

11.10. In case, the Organisation/ Project Director abandons the project without any valid reasons or does not complete the project to the satisfaction of the BPR&D, the Organization administering the Research Project shall be liable to return the entire amount of the project paid with penal interest. In this case, the final decision shall rest with the DG, BPR&D.

11.11. Any publications based on the findings or contents of the research project shall be undertaken only with the prior approval of the BPR&D.

11.12. All legal action shall be subject to the jurisdiction of Delhi based Courts only.

The proposals should be captioned “Solicitation for Research Proposals”. The research proposals should reach this Bureau in hard copy by 4th October, 2018.

The research proposals received after the last date will not be considered.

Appendix-II

Guideline for Drafting Research Proposal

I. The Title of Project

II. Aim of the Project:

The broad aim of the project emphasizing the overall thrust of the proposed investigation should be clearly mentioned.

III. Statement of the Problem

In the opening paragraphs of the research proposal, the problem to be investigated should be stated clearly and briefly. The key questions and the location of the problem in the theoretical context of the concerned discipline should be specified. The significance of the problem, the contribution which the proposed study is expected to make to theory and methodology as well as its practical importance, and national relevance should be specifically indicated.

IV. Overview of Literature

Summarizing the current status of research in the area, including major findings, the project proposal should clearly demonstrate the relevance or insufficiency of the findings or approaches for the investigation of the problem at hand.

V. The Conceptual Framework

Given the problem and the theoretical perspective for investigating the problem, the proposal should clearly indicate the concepts to be used and demonstrate their relevance for the study. It should further specify the dimensions of empirical reality that need to be explored for investigating the problem.

VI. Research Questions or Hypotheses

Given the conceptual framework and the specification of dimensions, the specific question to be answered through the proposed research should be sharply formulated. In the case of an explanatory research design, specification of variables and posting of relationship among them through specific hypotheses must form a part of the research proposal.

VII. Research Methodology

i. Coverage

If in the light of the questions raised or the hypotheses proposed to be tested, sampling becomes necessary, full information on the following points should be given:

- (1) Universe of study
- (2) Sampling frame
- (3) Sampling procedure
- (4) Units of observation and sample size

[If the study requires any control groups, these should be specifically mentioned. An explanation of the determination of size and type of sample will also be necessary. Proposals not requiring a sample selection should specify their strategy appropriately and describe the rationale.]

ii. Data Collection

The different type of data that are proposed to be gathered should be specifically mentioned.

The sources for each type of data and the tools and techniques that will be used for collection of different type of data should be specified.

For questionnaire or schedule to be used the following should be indicated:

- (1) Distribution of questionnaire or schedule in different sections, e.g. identification data, socio-economic data, questions on various subthemes.
- (2) Approximate number of question to be asked from each respondent.
- (3) Any scaling techniques to be included in the instrument.
- (4) Any projective tests incorporated to the questionnaire/schedule.
- (5) Approximate time needed per interview.
- (6) Any plans for index-construction.
- (7) Coding plan (whether the questions and responses will be pre-coded or not; whether the coding is done for computer or for hand tabulation).

For interviews, the following details should be given:

- (1) How they are to be conducted (free associational, non-directive, focused, direct or on telephone).

- (2) Particular characteristics that interviews must have.

For the use of observation techniques, describe:

- (1) The type of observation: - participant, quasi-participant, non-participant;
- (2) Units of observation;
- (3) Whether this will be the only technique or whether other techniques will also be employed.

iii. Data Processing

The manner in which the different types of data will be processed, the tabulation plan and the types of data that will be processed through the computer should be explained in detail.

VIII. Stage Wise Detailed Time Frame

The project should be broken up in suitable stages and the time required for the completion of each stage of work should be specified. For instance, such stages may cover.

- (1) Preparatory work, including selection and appointment of staff and their training.
- (2) Pilot study, if any.
- (3) Drawing of sample.
- (4) Tool construction (including their pretesting and printing).
- (5) Data collection.
- (6) Data processing (which should include coding, editing, sorting, computer analysis).
- (7) Data analysis.
- (8) Report writing.

IX. Organization Infrastructure Available to be Utilized for the Head Wise Study.

An organizational chart indicating the posting, tasks, and number of persons, their level of qualifications/training required to fill the different positions should be given.

X. Cost Estimation

The cost of the project is to be estimated in terms of total man-months and the facilities needed. Calculate it under the following headings:

- (1) Personnel

Position	No. of Person	Salary and wages	Duration	Amount Required
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)

- (2) Travel
- (3) Data processing
- (4) Stationery and printing
- (5) Books, journals, etc. (expenditure not be exceed 5 percent of the total)
- (6) Contingency expenses including postage
- (7) Any other (specify)
- (8) Overhead charges limited to 5 percent of the cost (i.e. of the sum of items 1 through 7, where applicable)
- (9) Grand total

While suggesting budget estimates for the research proposal the project director should take into account the time, budget, as well as various steps involved in the conduct of the research proposal.

The rationale for the allocation of time and money for the various items of budget estimates must be furnished.
