

PRESS NOTE
03.06.2013

Since January 2013 Chandigarh police has received a large number of complaints regarding missing/lost mobile phones at various Police Stations/ Police Posts. Taking a serious note of the situation a Joint team of I/C MTMC and I/C CRU, has been constituted under the supervision of DSP (Cyber Cell), who were entrusted the responsibility of recovery of these mobile phones.

In this effort the team so constituted has successfully recovered 138 mobiles of various companies including expensive mobiles like Apple I-phone 4S, Samsung Grand, Samsung galaxy SII, Samsung Note, Blackberry Bold, Sony X-peria etc costing around Rs. 7 Lac.

During inquiry it has been revealed that the recovered mobiles were either purchased from the vendors or found lying at different locations by the users. Now, we are in the process of identifying the vendors who deal in sale purchase of second hand mobiles without verifying their details.

It has also been observed that there is very little awareness regarding the software applications available for securing the mobiles or tracing them in case they are lost. These days, numbers of software applications are provided by the manufacturing companies (especially in high end phones) which are very useful to locate these mobiles by the user on their own. Chandigarh Police would like to advise the customers to make use of such applications for preventing the theft and loss of their property.
